FOR THE ABAMS SENTINEL.

Pennsylvania Canal, No. 6. WE must take this opportunity of stating, once for all, that we are as friendly to a rational and useful system of public improvement, as any other person can be; that we are altogether opposed to a niggardly plan of economizing, and entirely in favor of the Stare adopting an enlightened and liberal policy : but we are by no means disposed to admit, as such, every Utopian project, that may be suggested by the heated imaginations of the blind votaries of fashion-got up too, when her epidemic mania is raging in the highest stage of fermenta-- tion and excitement. Is it wise to attempt to force us into a mozare, at such a moment, which our better judgment, upon cool reflection, would revolent? And has not this been the case? Has not this bill been urged on inrematurely, for the avowed purpose of embarking the people in the measure in the heat of passion, lest it should be abandoned upon deliberate investigation, and the designs of interested individuals frustrated? because we have embarked in a dangerous experiment, an expensive and impracticable scheme, in a moment of in toxication, shall we therefore continue to persevere in it, in the face of conviction, contrary to the soundest dictates of common sense? When reason, interest and policy, have abandoned the measure, shall we be forced on by shame? Shall we pursue a project, which must ultimately cover us with disgrace, and involve us in debt and ruin! Or shall we not rather turn back, while, as yet, we have but as it were set one foot into the water-while Athere has been, comparatively, nothing chne, no expense incurred? Would it not, we ask, he better to save our money, at the expense of our honor, than. by persevering, through a false modesty, lose both together ? But, you will may, how is this to be done—the law is passed-there have been $350,000 borrowed upon the strength of it-hands have been employed, and the work isalready begun! We answer, elect men to the next-Legislature, opposed to the measure-instruct your representatives to repeal the law-petition the Legislature to that effect—and let the money be replaced, or applied to the Improvement of the bed of the river, or some other public use-and, you

Total. Suppose then $20,000 to render the Susquehanna, with its various branch es, the North branch, the West branch, the Juniata, &c. completely and safely navigable, how much more useful will it not be to that country than the projected Canal! And is it not presumable, from those estimates, that the sum of $300,000 would render them even pavigable for steam boats of a small size, the whole distance: which would certainly be of infinitely more advantage than the proposed sections of the Canal.

With these reflections, we shall take our leave of the subject, trusting the decision to the good sense of the public. As our only aim was to awaken them to the consideration of the subject, if we shall have succeeded in producing in any degree an investigation of the malter, our object will be effected. GETTYSEURG, OCT. 4.

The Election is rapidly approaching -and next Tuesday will determine whether we shall be represented by Democtacy, or retain our long-established and venerable character. We find that the sterling Federalism of Adams county feels the danger there is, in remaining lukewarm, and dividing their streifgth; and we view it as a happy presage of success. The settled licket, Though every individual on it may not be pleasing to all, has been rallied round, to prevent a greater evil .- We feel sensible, that this is a matter which we can correct in future, if so disposed; but the disgrace attached to a triumph of our opponents, cannot easily be removed. We hope there may be a general turn out to the polls: if there is,

COUNTRICATIONA. A SENATOR.

We observe that, in York county, a candidate for Senator bas been nominated, in opposition to the Democratic Patent Ticket-who will be supported by the Independent Republicans of that County. They are, in course, entitled to the member; and we ought, therefore, to pay due respect to their nomination. The gentleman alluded to is Peter Overdier, Esq. a Farmer, residing in the vicinity of Hanover. He is represented to us, as a man much respected in that county, of sound judg ment, and liberal in his principles .-His name, agreeably to the recommendation of our York friends, has been printed upon our tickets-and is left to the consideration of the voters. We feel confident that he will receive, in this County, a LARGE MAJORITY.

Mr. Hanpen,

For reasons arising out of the political circumstances that do exist-I have thought proper to withdraw my name from the list of Candidates for the next Legislature.

MR. HAPPER. Swope, in Bonaughtown, on Saturday next last. Among other nominations on that ticket, I find myself off red for a due to the public, and to myself, to state that this was so done without my knowledge or consent-I was not consulted, nor had I any participation in the meeting or the proceedings either directly or remotely; nor is the result of that meeting in accordance with my wishes or approbation—I hope my friends and fellow citizens, will not consider me a candidate for office, at the approaching clection. I have no doubt, on a moments-reflection, they will see the fathlity of pursuing a measure perhaps worse ethan hopeless,and the propriety of turning their attention, for the present, to other more prominent and opposing candidates.

VERY LATE AND IMPORTANT | Fevers cholera morbues and dysentery FROM ENGLAND.

By the packet ships Florida, Capt. Tinkham, and Leeds, Captain Stod. dort, the former of which sailed from Liverpool on the 20th, and the latter on the 25th August, the N. York Commercial Advertiser has regular files of London and Liverpool papers, Lloyd's and Shipping Lists, Prices Current, &c. to the latest date.

The most important article which Presents itself to the American-reader is an Order in Council, which was adopted on the 28th July, (but was not published until the 19th of August;) which, among other provisions, goes to prohibit our direct intercourse with the British possessions in the West Indies, &c. after the first of December anguage on the subject :-"Orders have been sent out to all our Colonies in the West Indies, to put in force the act of the 6th of the King, in respect to their trade with foreign countries. By that act, the ports of those Colonies are to be closed against the vessels of such States as do not place British shipping, trading between those Colonies and such States, upon the footing of the most favored nation.

"I'he. United States of America have declined to place our shipping upon It appears by your paper of the that footing in their ports; and, in 27th inst, that an bindependent tick- consequence, their ships will not be adet" has been formed by a meeting of mitted to entry, in our West Indian citizens held at the house of Samuel Colonies, after the first of December

"The Government of this country would have been fully justified in exseat in the next assembly; I think it | cluding American ships immediately, and without any more specific notice than that which the law itself had given, especially as that law, which passed in July, 1825, was not to take ef fect till January, 1826. From that pe riod, our West India Ports' ought, in strictness, to have been closed against American vessels; but as, in fact, they they were not, it becomes, perhaps, the courtesy of one friendly nation to another, to give a fresh notice, and a further sufficient time, before this measure is carried into effect.

> "I he interruption of the trade with the United States, which is thus for ced upon us by the continued refusal of the American Government to place our ships, engaged in that trade, upon a looting of the most favored nation, in the ports of the United States, is, we conceive, a fortunate event-for British shipping, which cannot but receive encouragement from the interruption of the trade now carried on in American bottoms, and with cargoes from the U.

Water, too, is failing in many towns, and in various parts of the country. Cuttle are, every day, deteriorating in value, in consequence of the want of grass, and have already arrived at an unprecedented price. The most gloomy prospects are to be apprehended in consequence of the want of rain. PORTUGAL.—By the latest advices from Portugal, it would seem that the new Constitution does not give that universal satisfaction which wa were at first told it did, or which we supposed it would. The friends of absolute power and the priesthood are labouring to stir up disaffection to the chapter, and have succeeded in exciting some disaffection, and preventing many from taking their oath to support it. In the translation of the constitution published in the Paris ministerial papers, that clause which secures the freedom of the press in Portugal, independently of a censorship, was suppressed.

Private letter from Spain .- By a letter, dated last of July, received in New York, from a highly respectable gentleman in Madrid, we learn that the Spanish Government, since learning of the revolt of Paez, and the consequent low state of South American securities, entertain delusive hopes of regaining advantages: But its efforts in this as well as in every other department requiring energy and power and influence, are limited entirely to a "trust in Providence," forgetting the fable of the Waggoner and Hercules. The attention however of Ferdinand and his Ministers, (church and state) is now wholly engrossed by the late changes in Portugul, and they cease almost to think of the colonies whilst troubles nearer home alarm them hor-

THE BLIGHTED FLOWER.

There bloom'd a lovely little flower, And in the wild it grew ; Twee born in summer's aweetest hour, And round its rude, secluded bower, A blessed fragrance threw.

Chill sutumn came with frown severe, And swept the verdant spot; The tree was stripp'd, the leaf was sear, Yet 'midst the waste so sad and dream, The flowret perish'd not.

Stern winter now his mantle white, O'er autumn's ravage threw Cold was the day, and drear the night, And yet the flowret felt no blight, But beauteous still it grew.

A being of angelic form. All heavenly to behold, Espied and from the winter storm The flowret in his mansion warm, He shielded from the cold.

Awhile it shed a fragrance round. Till all its sweets were fled : Then, like a weed, twas drooping found, Neglected-trodden to the groun Pale-wither'd-blighted-dead!

Oh! wouldst thou know that being's name-The mansion, and its guest MAN, MAN!-to thy eternal-chame, Thou and that being are the same— WOMAN, the flowret doom it to shame-The mansion curst, thy breast!
